BIOGRAPHY

Lindsey Dunn has a wide range of experience in complex civil litigation. At an international AmLaw 50 firm, she first-chaired a bench trial and second-chaired several arbitrations, in addition to serving on several trial teams. Her courtroom experience includes delivering opening and closing arguments, examining and cross-examining witnesses, and arguing dispositive and evidentiary motions.

Lindsey has significant commercial litigation experience. Her background spans class actions, antitrust, contract disputes, and product liability. She has represented global technology leaders as well as companies in industries including healthcare, aviation, manufacturing, and finance.

She has advised clients in all stages of litigation, from pre-litigation dispute resolution through appeals. She has extensive experience managing the litigation discovery process, particularly crafting efficient electronic discovery strategies and taking and defending depositions.

Lindsey's pro bono experience includes giving her time to the Colorado Poverty Law Project, where she represents clients in eviction and other housing cases.
